Dear Colleagues,

I guess to say something about David Goldman and Brandon Dental Lab, I must first tell you something about myself which is not something I generally do. I was born and raised in Eustis, Florida, attended Auburn University and was accepted early admission to the University of Alabama School of Dentistry. I graduated from UAB in 1981. I was an associate of Dr. W. Jarrell (Jerry) Wilkins of Eustis for three years prior to opening my own practice in October of 1984.

Those three years with Jerry were beneficial in helping me realize that I only knew the basics about dentistry, but with his guidance I learned about gold foils, implants, horizontal pin splints and many other applications for restorative dentistry. He also introduced me to the best in continuing education. Starting with the Pete Dawson series, I began that journey then proceeded with the L.D. Pankey Institute, numerous Frank Spear courses and many others scattered in between.

The point of all the above is to relate my feelings to you about David. The working relationship I was fortunate to establish with David over the last ten plus years only comes around once in a practicing dentist's lifetime. Many of the labs I had used before I discovered Brandon Dental Lab could make OK crowns, but adjusting contacts, etc. were perpetual. I felt I had worked too hard in giving them great impressions to have to work even harder to make the case go! In more complex cases, these problems just compounded.

Not so with David and the highly competent staff he surrounds himself with. You see, David has probably attended more continuing education courses than I have. I remember Pete Dawson said of Frank Spear, "some are teachers and some can produce, but Frank can do both!"

David has not only gathered instruction, he can produce the impeccable results. He knows how to graciously communicate what he needs for records, photos, etc. to give you the results you and your patients deserve. He truly understands form, fit and function and he and his staff will always give you their best, especially if you are sending your best to them. He and his staff made case delivery a great reward and something to look forward to and in the end the ultimate goal was attained.....my patients received excellent dentistry and were satisfied.

My only regret about David is that I found him so late in my practice career.

Sincerely,
